A Christian Guide to the Qur'an

Building Bridges in Muslim Evangelism

Raouf Ghattas and Carol B. Ghattas

This guide for Christians explains the central messages of the Qur'an in simple terms and illustrates how knowledge of Islam's sacred text can aid evangelism and religious understanding. Raouf and Carol Ghattas combine their years of experience working in Muslim cultures and their extensive knowledge of Islam to outline the worldview set forth in the Qur'an. The book includes a glossary of Arabic terms and three appendixes detailing important dates in Islam, biblical names found in the Qur'an, and biblical references in the Qur'an.

Rights: WW

Though raised as an evangelical Christian in North Africa, Raouf Ghattas has been deeply influenced by Islam and the Qur'an. A native speaker of Arabic, he is able to teach Christians about Islam and the Muslim worldview from primary sources. Dr. Ghattas served for more than twenty-five years as a missionary to Muslims across the world and earned his doctorate in Muslim evangelism from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Carol B. Ghattas began her work in the mission field in West Africa before returning to the United States to earn a Masters of Divinity degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. She has served alongside her husband in the mission field for more than seventeen years, living in Muslim countries throughout North Africa and the Middle East. She has also studied the lives of Muslim women and, under a pseudonym, has authored several books about the difficulties Muslims face in coming to Christ.

Go Back and Be Happy

Julie Papiervis

When a teenager ran a red light and crushed Julie's little sports car, it left her with a traumatic brain stem injury, close to death. She had, at best, a four percent chance of survival, let alone recovery. Suddenly she found herself on heaven's doorstep. Her two grandmothers appeared, seemingly to welcome her—but instead they told her to return to her body. "Your body will heal," they said. "Go back and be happy." In Go Back and Be Happy, Julie describes her painful but remarkable recovery and shares her spiritual journey to a rich and satisfying faith.

Living with the Planet
Making a Difference in a Time of Climate Change

Catherine von Ruhland

Complete with color illustrations throughout, Living with the Planet takes readers a step back from their daily lives to remind them of their global interconnectedness. Beginning with an overview of the Earth, its atmosphere, and oceans, Catherine von Ruhland takes a detailed look at each continent, covering pertinent issues such as global warming, deforestation, resource exploitation, and threatened wildlife. A “Taking Action” section at the end of each chapter offers a wealth of suggestions for what we can do to make a positive difference.

Apocalypse Later
Why the Gospel of Peace Must Trump the Politics of Prophecy in the Middle East

Abdu H. Murray

Former Muslim Abdu H. Murray urges Christians to stop shouting “Apocalypse now!” and start proclaiming the good news. He contends in this eye-opening book that eschatology casts the people of the Middle East as prophetic pawns, while the gospel sees them as individual subjects of God’s love who need to hear the good news about life in Jesus.

Creation or Evolution?

Do We Have to Choose?

Denis Alexander

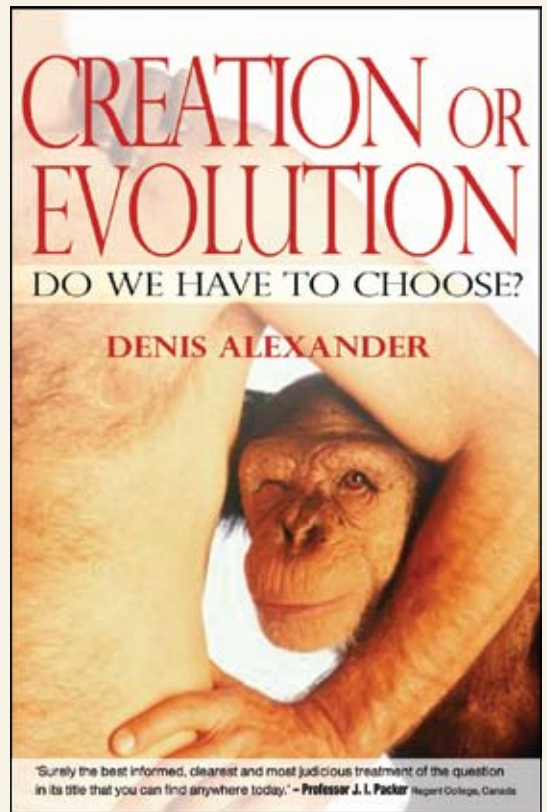

Addressing the controversies surrounding the evolution versus creationism debate, Creation or Evolution? seeks to shed light on this often murky issue, without giving in to common presuppositions. Denis Alexander, director of the Faraday Institute for Science and Religion, helps readers sort out the answers to this intensely tricky debate that is dividing Christians and the wider culture.

"Surely the best informed, clearest, and most judicious treatment of the question in its title that you can find anywhere today."

Chosen

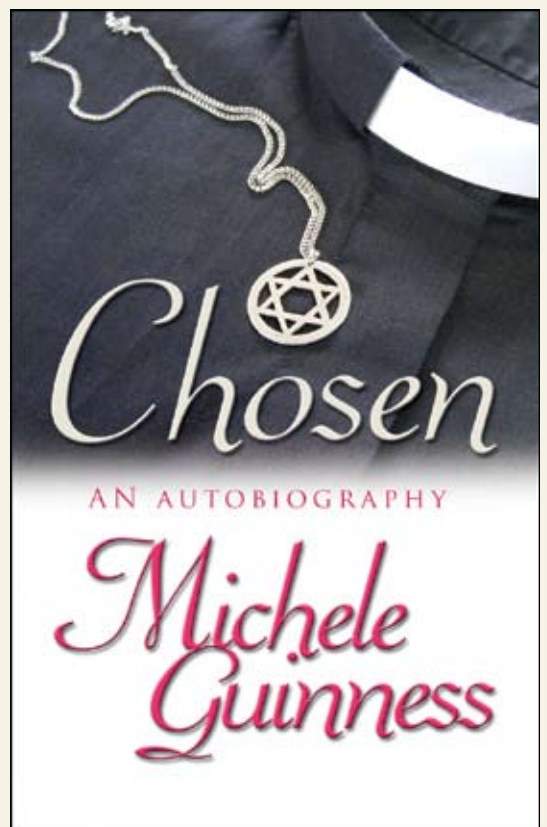

An Autobiography

Michele Guinness

Michele Guinness offers a humorous insider's look at her life as an Anglican clergyman's wife—who happens to be Jewish. Michele's amusing autobiography, studded with vivid anecdotes, describes her spiritual journey as she struggles to make sense of being both Jewish and Christian, adapting—not abandoning—her rich heritage to life as the vicar's somewhat unusual wife in a Church of England parish.

How to Be Good

Sophie Piper; Georgie Birkett, illustrator

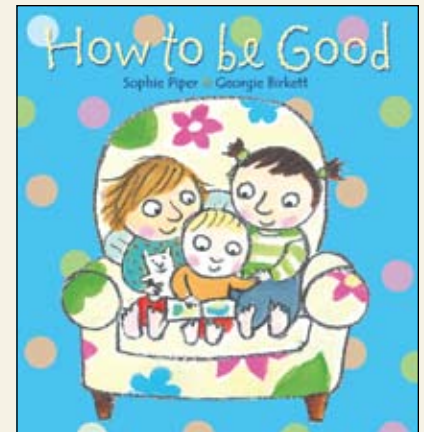

Little readers are introduced to the value of good behavior through charming pictures of toddlers in everyday situations. The pictures then show the comical but cautionary consequences of bad behavior, teaching a gentle lesson to children as they learn how to behave with others. Topics include being clean and tidy, keeping quiet (or not, depending on the noise), thinking of others, caring and sharing, saying sorry, and laughing together.

Wilma Wall

Velita, the stay-at-home mother of two children, is married to an explosively violent man. When she is summoned for jury duty, her husband commands her to throw out the summons, afraid that she will expose his abuse. A fellow jury member, a nurse named Marsha, recognizes the symptoms of abuse in Velita, and extends a hand of compassion, while Jacob, a Mennonite widower, shows Velita that strong men can still be kind by offering her his support. Will she learn to trust them or be consumed by the darkness overwhelming her life?

Erwin W. Lutzer is senior pastor of the historic Moody Church in Chicago, as well as a popular conference and radio speaker. His many books include The Doctrines That Divide, How You Can Be Sure That You Will Spend an Eternity with God, and One Minute After You Die.

Ten Lies About God

And the Truths That Shatter Deception

Erwin W. Lutzer

One of America's leading pastors and Bible teachers guides readers through ten common misconceptions about God, provides biblical responses to each, and helps Christians develop an accurate view of their Creator. On the surface the ten lies that Dr. Lutzer examines may appear at least partially truthful, or even harmless. But, as Dr. Lutzer reveals, each harbors distinct dangers—not just to secular society but to many devout churches as well.

Reading Revelation

A Comparison of Four Interpretive Translations of the Apocalypse

C. Marvin Pate

The study of Revelation has customarily fallen into four major—and essentially conflicting—hermeneutical approaches: preterist (past), historicist, futurist, and idealist (spiritual). This helpful tool for study—from an acknowledged Revelation expert—presents the four major hermeneutical translations of Revelation in parallel columns and—in order to provide a standard of reference—includes a column presenting the Greek text and a literal word-for-word translation.

How Then Should We Choose?

Three Views on God's Will and Decision Making

Douglas S. Huffman, editor

Henry and Richard Blackaby, Garry Friesen, and Gordon T. Smith present three principle views on God's will and how his will should affect our everyday decisions as Christians. Friesen discusses the "wisdom" view, Henry and Richard Blackaby delineate the "specific will" view, and Smith champions the "relationship" view of God's will. This reader-friendly discussion applies each view of God's will and decision making to three practical, concrete topics: career, relationships, and stewardship.

The Convergent Church

Missional Worshipers in an Emerging Culture

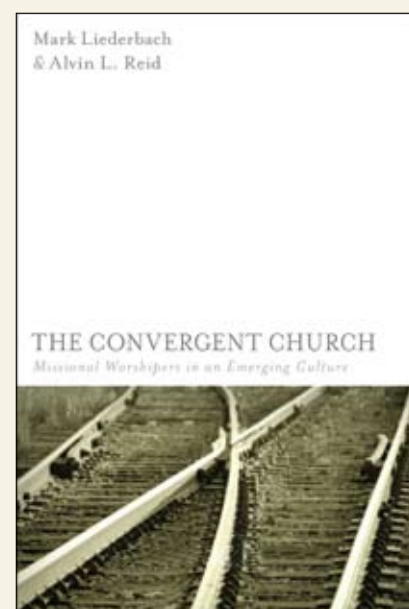

Mark Liederbach and Alvin L. Reid

Bringing together conventional Christianity and the emergent church, Liederbach and Reid illustrate how the two are complementary. This new model attempts to move beyond the antipathy that has developed between conventional and emergent groups and urges Christians to honestly consider the best that each has to offer. Liederbach and Reid find biblical support for their new model of convergent Christianity in the ministry history and teachings in Acts, and draw helpful parallels between the early church and the modern church.

The History of Christian Europe

G. R. Evans

Evans traces Christianity’s influence on not only the thinking but also the social structures of Europe. The History of Christian Europe follows Christianity’s spread across the centuries: from its earliest days, through the East/West schism, the Reformation and Counter-Reformation, to its development in the scientific age of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and its place in the modern world. The narrative is complemented by sidebars highlighting key events and concepts, such as monastic life, icons, Darwin’s The Origin of Species, prophecy, the slave trade, and the influence of psychology.

Healing Life's Hurts

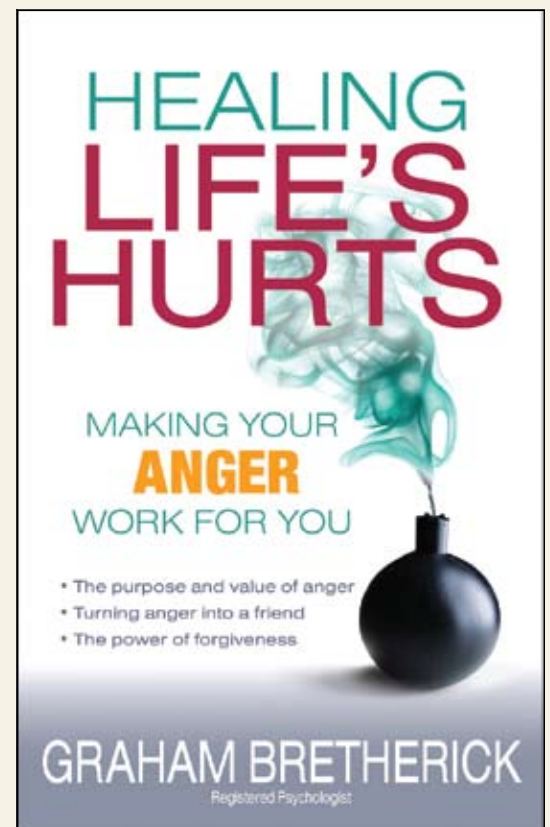

Make Your Anger Work for You

Graham Bretherick

"Every hurt generates anger, even if we are not aware of it. Because we do not understand how common anger is to our everyday experience, we repress it instead of using it to help us," Graham Bretherick writes in the introduction to Healing Life's Hurts. "When anger is understood in its original purpose, we grasp how it may work for our benefit." This book provides a new understanding of anger and its valuable place in our lives.

Una guía para padres sobre la guerra espiritual

A Parent's Guide to Spiritual Warfare
 Leslie Montgomery

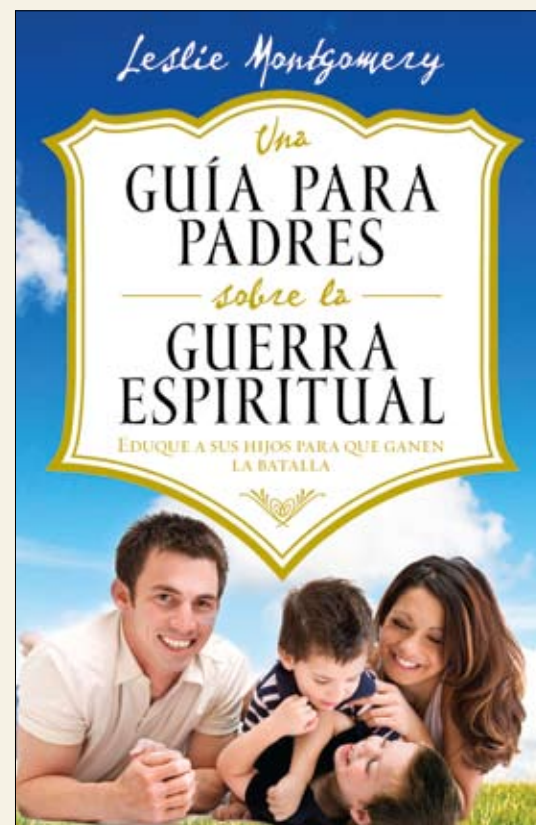

The Bible makes it clear that spiritual warfare is real. Nowhere is this battle more evident than in the lives of today's children:

- By the eighth grade, 52 percent of adolescents have consumed alcohol, and 20 percent have used marijuana
- One million teenage girls get pregnant each year
- Suicide is the third leading cause of death among young people ages fifteen to twenty-four

This book will inspire parents to draw closer to God in times of difficulty and to teach their children to do the same.

Available in English from Crossway.

Leslie Montgomery has been the director of publications, managing editor, and a staff writer for the American Association of Christian Counselors. She has also been a writer for Focus on the Family for over seven years and has authored the books Were It Not for Grace and A Woman's Guide to Spiritual Warfare.

Donde nace el río
Where the River Begins
 Patricia St. John

Francis comes from a home that is filled with insecurity. He finds himself with untrustworthy friends and in difficult situations. He becomes friends with a family on a farm that helps him and surrounds him with an atmosphere of Christian love. Francis remembers hearing them talk about the “river of life.” What river is that? he wonders. Where can I find this river?

Patricia St. John (1914–1992) was born in England. She was a nurse, a missionary, a relief worker, and the writer of many books for children including Treasures of the Snow and The Tanglewoods’ Secret.
